Definitions

An explanation of terms shown in the tables above

Book cost for long positions is the total amount paid to purchase a security including any transaction charges related to the purchase, adjusted for reinvested distributions, return of capital and corporate actions.

Book cost for short positions is the total amount received for the security, net of any transaction charges related to the sale, adjusted for any distribution (other than dividends), returns of capital and corporate actions.

Market value is the price of the security or fund multiplied by the quantity held.

Unrealized Gain or Loss is the gain or loss that would be incurred, if your holdings were liquidated as at the end of the statement period. It is calculated by subtracting book cost from market value.

An explanation of terms shown in the tables above

Book cost for long positions is the total amount paid to purchase a security including any transaction charges related to the purchase, adjusted for reinvested distributions, return of capital and corporate actions.

Market value is the price of the security or fund multiplied by the quantity held.

Unrealized Gain or Loss is the gain or loss that would be incurred, if your holdings were liquidated as at the end of the statement period. It is calculated by subtracting book cost from market value.

Book cost for short positions is the total amount received for the security, net of any transaction charges related to the sale, adjusted for any distribution (other than dividends), returns of capital and corporate actions.

Market value is the price of the security or fund multiplied by the quantity held.

Unrealized Gain or Loss is the gain or loss that would be incurred, if your holdings were liquidated as at the end of the statement period. It is calculated by subtracting book cost from market value.

Book cost for short positions is the total amount received for the security, net of any transaction charges related to the sale, adjusted for any distribution (other than dividends), returns of capital and corporate actions.

Definitions

An explanation of terms shown in the tables above

Book cost for long positions is the total amount paid to purchase a security including any transaction charges related to the purchase, adjusted for reinvested distributions, return of capital and corporate actions.

Market value is the price of the security or fund multiplied by the quantity held.

Unrealized Gain or Loss is the gain or loss that would be incurred, if your holdings were liquidated as at the end of the statement period. It is calculated by subtracting book cost from market value.

Book cost for short positions is the total amount received for the security, net of any transaction charges related to the sale, adjusted for any distribution (other than dividends), returns of capital and corporate actions.

Definitions

An explanation of terms shown in the tables above

Book cost for long positions is the total amount paid to purchase a security including any transaction charges related to the purchase, adjusted for reinvested distributions, return of capital and corporate actions.

Market value is the price of the security or fund multiplied by the quantity held.

Unrealized Gain or Loss is the gain or loss that would be incurred, if your holdings were liquidated as at the end of the statement period. It is calculated by subtracting book cost from market value.

Book cost for short positions is the total amount received for the security, net of any transaction charges related to the sale, adjusted for any distribution (other than dividends), returns of capital and corporate actions.

Definitions

An explanation of terms shown in the tables above

Book cost for long positions is the total amount paid to purchase a security including any transaction charges related to the purchase, adjusted for reinvested distributions, return of capital and corporate actions.

Market value is the price of the security or fund multiplied by the quantity held.

Unrealized Gain or Loss is the gain or loss that would be incurred, if your holdings were liquidated as at the end of the statement period. It is calculated by subtracting book cost from market value.

Book cost for short positions is the total amount received for the security, net of any transaction charges related to the sale, adjusted for any distribution (other than dividends), returns of capital and corporate actions.

An explanation of terms shown in the tables above

Book cost for long positions is the total amount paid to purchase a security including any transaction charges related to the purchase, adjusted for reinvested distributions, return of capital and corporate actions.

Market value is the price of the security or fund multiplied by the quantity held.

Unrealized Gain or Loss is the gain or loss that would be incurred, if your holdings were liquidated as at the end of the statement period. It is calculated by subtracting book cost from market value.

Book cost for short positions is the total amount received for the security, net of any transaction charges related to the sale, adjusted for any distribution (other than dividends), returns of capital and corporate actions.

Definitions

An explanation of terms shown in the tables above

Book cost for long positions is the total amount paid to purchase a security including any transaction charges related to the purchase, adjusted for reinvested distributions, return of capital and corporate actions.

Market value is the price of the security or fund multiplied by the quantity held.

Unrealized Gain or Loss is the gain or loss that would be incurred, if your holdings were liquidated as at the end of the statement period. It is calculated by subtracting book cost from market value.

Book cost for short positions is the total amount received for the security, net of any transaction charges related to the sale, adjusted for any distribution (other than dividends), returns of capital and corporate actions.

Definitions

An explanation of terms shown in the tables above

Book cost for long positions is the total amount paid to purchase a security including any transaction charges related to the purchase, adjusted for reinvested distributions, return of capital and corporate actions.

Book cost for short positions is the total amount received for the security, net of any transaction charges related to the sale, adjusted for any distribution (other than dividends), returns of capital and corporate actions.

Market value is the price of the security or fund multiplied by the quantity held.

Unrealized Gain or Loss is the gain or loss that would be incurred, if your holdings were liquidated as at the end of the statement period. It is calculated by subtracting book cost from market value.

An explanation of terms shown in the tables above

Book cost for long positions is the total amount paid to purchase a security including any transaction charges related to the purchase, adjusted for reinvested distributions, return of capital and corporate actions.

Book cost for short positions is the total amount received for the security, net of any transaction charges related to the sale, adjusted for any distribution (other than dividends), returns of capital and corporate actions.

Market value is the price of the security or fund multiplied by the quantity held.

Unrealized Gain or Loss is the gain or loss that would be incurred, if your holdings were liquidated as at the end of the statement period. It is calculated by subtracting book cost from market value.

An explanation of terms shown in the tables above

Book cost for long positions is the total amount paid to purchase a security including any transaction charges related to the purchase, adjusted for reinvested distributions, return of capital and corporate actions.

Market value is the price of the security or fund multiplied by the quantity held.

Unrealized Gain or Loss is the gain or loss that would be incurred, if your holdings were liquidated as at the end of the statement period. It is calculated by subtracting book cost from market value.

Book cost for short positions is the total amount received for the security, net of any transaction charges related to the sale, adjusted for any distribution (other than dividends), returns of capital and corporate actions.

An explanation of terms shown in the tables above

Book cost for long positions is the total amount paid to purchase a security including any transaction charges related to the purchase, adjusted for reinvested distributions, return of capital and corporate actions.

Book cost for short positions is the total amount received for the security, net of any transaction charges related to the sale, adjusted for any distribution (other than dividends), returns of capital and corporate actions.

Market value is the price of the security or fund multiplied by the quantity held.

Unrealized Gain or Loss is the gain or loss that would be incurred, if your holdings were liquidated as at the end of the statement period. It is calculated by subtracting book cost from market value.

How your account has performed

Your account has changed in value by -$91,240.02 since Feb 4, 2021.

Your invested capital (deposits less withdrawals): since Feb 4, 2021: $97,790.33

Market value of your account as of Dec 31, 2023: $6,550.31

Your invested capital is calculated based on the deposits less withdrawals of cash and/or securities, and for accounts that were opened prior to Jan 1, 2012 the market value of your account at that time was used to determine the opening invested capital value. Deposits or withdrawals of securities into your account use the closing market value of each security to calculate the value of the contribution or withdrawal taking into account any applicable fees or charges. It does not include interest earned or reinvested distributions. Invested capital can appear as a negative number if the market value of your withdrawals is greater than the market value of your deposits.

Your personal rates of return as of Dec 31, 2023

For the last 12 months (%)	Since Feb 4, 2021 (%)
-84.20	-76.69

Personal rate of return reflects the total percentage return earned on the investments held in your account. Total percentage return means the cumulative realized and unrealized capital gains and losses of an investment, plus income from the investment, over a specified period of time, expressed as a percentage.

Personal rate of return is calculated using a money-weighted methodology. Unlike alternative rate of return methodologies, it takes into account any deposits or withdrawals you have made, and the performance outcomes of your investments over a specified time period, net of fees and charges paid directly by this account. Rates of return are provided on an annualized basis except for any returns reflective of a period of less than one year.

This historical data offers you a longer term perspective about your account's performance and progress towards your goals.

Annual Investment Performance Report - Additional Information

Performance reporting beginning balance - This line is the beginning balance of the account on the first day of the reporting period. It is the same as the previous performance reporting period unless an adjusting entry was made which would have been noted on your account statement. This beginning balance may not match your account statement balance due to the fact that this report is produced using a different system than the one that produces your account statement. These systems use different accounting methodologies for income accrual and security pricing and while both systems are accurate this may result in different values being displayed.

Deposits including transfers in - Includes any deposits, contributions, transfers into your account, adjustments, and any reversals of transfers-out of your account.

Withdrawals including transfers out - Includes any withdrawals, payments, transfers out of your account, and any reversals of transfers into your account.

Change in value of your account - This is calculated using the following formula: (Performance reporting ending balance LESS Performance reporting beginning balance LESS Deposits including transfers in PLUS Withdrawals including transfers out). It includes deposits, withdrawals, income received, fees charged, and the change in the value of your investments for the period referenced.

Performance reporting ending balance - This line is the total value of the account at the end of the reporting period. This ending balance may not match your account statement balance due to the fact that this report is produced using a different system than the one that produces your account statement. These systems use different accounting methodologies for income accrual and security pricing and while both systems are accurate this may result in different values being displayed.

Performance Rates of Return - Please note, Your personal rate of return is calculated using a different system from the one that is used to produce your account statement. These systems, since they use different accounting methodologies for income accrual and security pricing are both accurate. However, you cannot derive Your personal rate of return directly from the data presented in your account statement.

Definitions

An explanation of terms shown in the tables above

Book cost for long positions is the total amount paid to purchase a security including any transaction charges related to the purchase, adjusted for reinvested distributions, return of capital and corporate actions.

Market value is the price of the security or fund multiplied by the quantity held.

Unrealized Gain or Loss is the gain or loss that would be incurred, if your holdings were liquidated as at the end of the statement period. It is calculated by subtracting book cost from market value.

Book cost for short positions is the total amount received for the security, net of any transaction charges related to the sale, adjusted for any distribution (other than dividends), returns of capital and corporate actions.
